

As the Program Manager of the Omaha Public Library, Nancy Novotny oversees all library programming for all ages.

In her early years at OPL, Nancy used her charm and natural good looks to win over toddlers and their caregivers at various story times in the Millard and North Omaha communities. Previously, Nancy was a school librarian in a K-6 school in Papillion, Nebraska, as well as a K-8 school in a suburb of Phoenix, Arizona.

Nancy has been reading since the age of 4, crediting Sesame Street and The Electric Company for her early education. Her favorite books as a child were the Nancy Drew series and the Trixie Belden series. She attended Bellevue East High School and earned a BA in English from Creighton University.
